FINAL EDITION!!!

Dress Rehearsal Tonight!

You should know by now what to remember:

- Talk and sing up and out
- Smile
- Remember the words and the steps
- Remember the props and the boxes
- Watch the transitions

Once we moved the mikes and had the soloists singing near them, the show sounded a lot better. And I am really pleased with the way the costuming turned out – those colors look great.

You've been dusted; let's make some magic!

Show Day Rules

- When you arrive, go to the upstairs rehearsal room.
- You will not need your bags backstage.
- Take only water backstage – no food.
- Be careful where you put the water down.
- Don't touch Miss Nicely's stuff
- Don't cheat onto the stage if you're not in the scene.
- Keep back doors closed
- No talking
- Move quickly and quietly
- Don't panic!
- Smile for your bows!

Cast Party: Details will be announced when they are finalized.

A Few Final Words

First of all, a big THANK YOU to all the cast and crew for your dedication and hard work. And THANK YOU to the parents who managed to get you all here when you needed to be. And a final THANK YOU to Miss Jeena and Miss Yvonne for their patient direction.

I hope that you've enjoyed these newsletters and the web site. I've had fun putting it all together for you.

After this show is over, I don't know when I'll see you again – it might be around town, or at another show at the theater. I have enjoyed working with each and every one of you. I won't forget you and how we pulled this show together. There will never be another cast that is exactly like this one, and I will remember you forever.

If you care to, please stay in touch – you've got my e-mail and my cell phone number.

Goodbye and God bless.   Byron Frank
